

Robin Cantrell is a native of St. Paul Minnesota and received her BFA in ballet performance at the University of Utah as a Willem F. Christensen scholarship recipient. During a professional performing career that has spanned two decades, Robin has worked with numerous dance companies including City Ballet of San Diego, Rioult, Rebecca Kelly Ballet, and Battery Dance Company. With Battery Dance Robin has had the opportunity to perform, teach, and present her own choreography in over 60 countries worldwide. She is the subject of the award winning documentary, Moving Stories, about the cultural diplomacy work conducted by the company. Robin currently dances for Gabrielle Lamb's PigeonWing Dance and is the Artistic Director of Indelible Dance: a Brooklyn based dance company that creates otherworldly dance films and presents multimedia immersive dance events. Her first feature film was completed last year.
